

Summer Program Mainz 2006

The Association of Valencian Students in Germany SEACAVA and the “Fachbereich Physik” of the University of Mainz organize a summer program for practical training for Physics students, in which the students from the University of Valencia have the opportunity to join different research groups of the physics department of the University of Mainz. The total amount of participants is still to be determined. The Summer Program will take place from August 1st to September 30th of 2006. The students will be granted an amount of around 600 €per month.

University of Mainz

Due to the brotherhood between the cities of Mainz and Valencia, different agreements of collaboration and interchange between both universities exist. The Summer Program Valencia-Mainz organized by SEACAVA intends to intensify the academic exchange as well as the relationship between the physics departments of universities in both countries.

University of Valencia

The University of Valencia will offer the choice of validating the work carried out by the student with 6 credits - libre opcion - after handing a report about the work carried out.

Getting to Mainz

The students will pay for the trip to Mainz from their own sources.

Accommodation in Mainz

SEACAVA will provide individual or shared apartments or rooms for the students. The price of the rooms will be around 250 €per month, and it will be paid by the students. The students will also have to pay a deposit that will be given back when the keys of the apartment are returned.

Application

The applicant students must send a request letter explaining their personal motivation (extremely important), and enclosing their Curriculum Vitae with personal data, academic scores file (a photocopy or copy of the one which appears in Internet is sufficient), level certificate of English and/or German, address, e-mail and telephone, to the office of SEACAVA in Germany:
